

The Art Of Precision

TDC & ASSOCIATES HAS CLOSE TO

two decades of experience in the interior design world. Through the years, the team of dedicated designers has been bringing its expertise in interior design to a myriad of clients locally and regionally. Its portfolio encompasses a wide range of residential and commercial projects that include private homes and apartments, spas, showflats and offices. Its collection of distinctive and fresh designs showcases the firm's impressive skill in realising a plethora of different styles and themes.

Holding the firm in good stead is its ability to understand what the clients desire, this in addition to studying the challenges and structural requirements of the floor plan. By combining a practical approach with creative vision, TDC & Associates offers its customers the most ideal solutions to meet their varying needs.

Led by its principal designer L. H. Chan, TDC & Associates is attuned to various design concepts and trends, keeping abreast with interior design innovation. Creativity, quality and functionality are core values that drive the team. When complemented by a keen attention to detail, the design agency is well equipped to take on full-fledged interior design projects for the entire home or property development.

Since its inception, it has won accolades for its design forays. TDC & Associates clinched the Asia Pacific Residential Property Award for Best Interior Design Singapore in 2009 and 2010, one of which is, in recognition of its innovative interior design of the D'Almira showflat, a challenging project that saw the design team coming up with unique solutions to incorporate the existence of wide-bordered bay window ledges and integrating them to the open-concept space.

The design firm's commitment to its clients can be witnessed in this recently completed bungalow project. "This is a holiday home for the client and his family, so we kept the design simple, elegant and easy to maintain," says Chan, referring to the muted palette of sepia tones.

To achieve the American contemporary style of the interior, Chan and his team finished the walls in white, but incorporated mouldings, also in white, to add visual interest. Certain parts of the home are sheathed in textured wallcoverings to lend a touch of warmth to the respective spaces. "Also, we put together some furniture pieces from high-end furniture brand Bolier & Company, alongside custom-made furnishings," Chan elaborates. Customised furnishings include cabinets and headboard, precisely measured and perfectly coordinated to the proportions of the dining and bedrooms.

In yet another example of its eagle-eyed approach to detail, bold, contrasting outlines are included on the ceiling of common spaces such as the dining and living rooms. The stately nature of these lines is also reflected in the regal high-backed seating appointments in the dining area. These are further heightened by the presence of bold wide borders in the ceiling. Carefully selected artworks and lighting were added to the home, adding to the formal symmetry, which is a highlight in the design concept.

Chan points out that the firm is mindful to refrain from imbuing projects with a signature style. Instead, the team takes pride in letting the clients provide the direction and feel of the designs. Its ability to deftly manoeuvre these inputs into the final look is what makes TDC & Associate stand out from the other agencies. Whether understated or ultra-plush, interior design projects by TDC & Associates are enveloped with a pervasive and irresistible sense of style, comfort and sophistication.
